

I teach Green Building at Santa Barbara City College and have had Dana Harrison talk to my classes about water quality over the years. So I have been following her work with Aquel for a while now. When I decided I could afford water treatment for my own home, I began to research all the available water treatment options. I was impressed with Aquel's program, and when I found out that the #1 green builder in town was installing a system in his home, I felt in good company.

Since I've had the whole-house tanks installed my home's water has felt better, and I love the undersink RO/filtered water mixer option--a great idea to customize drinking water. I'm quite happy with my Aquel product.
